For Respondent No. 4: Smt. N. Indrani, Advocate.

The Court made the following :

JUDGMENT: (per Sri B. Sudershan Reddy, J)

It is stated by the learned counsel for the appellant that based on a letter produced by the Government Pleader alleged to have been written by the appellant himself expressing no objection for grant of leasehold rights in respect of the land in question, the writ petition has been dismissed by the learned single Judge. But, in fact the said letter was not addressed by the appellant. Learned counsel for the appellant in substance states that the letter produced by the respondents before the learned single Judge is not a genuine one.

This aspect of the matter can as well be brought to the notice of the learned single Judge. The subsequent event pleaded by the appellant herein is not a ground to interfere with the order passed by the learned single Judge. The remedy of the appellant is left open.

The Writ Appeal shall accordingly stand dismissed.
